“Pro Bono in Practice: how litigators can give back”

Wednesday 3 October 2018

Kindly hosted by Fladgate LLP, we are pleased to announce the details of the next Junior LSLA Seminar as part of our series of events aimed at junior members of the profession.

‘Pro bono’ is a term that covers a variety of voluntary legal work but the potential opportunities for litigators are rarely fully realised or understood. For many young lawyers, the prospect of using their legal training to give back to the community and the world at large is one of the biggest drawcards for studying law. However, when juggling a busy caseload it can be easy to lose sight of this and how pro bono work can further your professional and personal development.

We are pleased to announce a panel of experienced practitioners who each bring their own perspective to making the most of pro bono work. The speakers will discuss their experiences of working on challenging projects, the benefits and barriers associated with pro bono work, and provide guidance on how a litigator may best be able to ‘give back’.

Panellists:

Clare Carter – Deputy Chief Executive, The Access to Justice Foundation

Emmanuel Shepherd – Barrister, 3VB

Kerry Stares – Global Head of Legal at Thomson Reuters Foundation, TrustLaw

Venue: Fladgate LLP, 16 Great Queen Street, London WC2B 5DG

Time: Panel discussion from 6:30pm followed by drinks, canapés and networking
